As such assistants of the center guide and help students write research papers using the proper format, introduce them to the correct method of using available research sources, and ensure that they do not plagiarize. This is done through a series of individual conferences between research center assistants and students.

At each meeting, a different aspect of the research process is discussed, and the student's progress is monitored and evaluated. Through this valuable system, MIU students are ensured a genuine opportunity for developing research skills, which have practical uses throughout both their academic and professional lives.
